Victory Chimes Triptych

Here's a beautiful matted Triptych created in Sepia Pen and Ink Wash by artist J.A. Kendall, a master of his craft. This collection offers three stunning views of Victory Chimes sailing past legendary Maine Light Houses that are intertwined with her history. The first print shows the Chimes under full sail, outbound of Rockland Harbor past the Breakwater Light. The middle print has the Chimes off Pemaquid Light - a scene that inspired the 2003

Maine State Quarter. The final print shows a homeward bound Victory Chimes, gliding past the Owl's Head Light. This is a glorious celebration of Lighthouses and Traditional sail like none other. Each print began with an original rendering that took over 200 hours to create - the minute detail is evident in the high quality prints which are hand titled by the artist. The center print includes J.A. Kendall's signature (not shown in above illustration). A perfect Christmas Gift, or just the thing for your office or living room to look at and daydream for those days where you wish you were aboard The Chimes and sailing in Maine. Each Triptych has a description on the back telling the history of Victory Chimes and artist J.A. Kendall. Over three feet long - 10" x 37"

Special Price $105 - Specify cream or blue matte

Victory Chimes Coin

We are delighted to announce we've arranged, with Daniel Carr, to reproduce the original Victory Chimes Quarter design he submitted to the US Mint. Inspired by the Pendleton family of Rockland this is the design the people of Maine voted on to represent their state quarter. Here's your chance to own a classic - Carr recently pressed a limited minting of 250 coins for us. Carr had previously designed the NY and Rhode Island State Quarters in 2001, provided finalist designs for the Florida, Colorado, Wisconsin and California coins, and this talented engraver's coin creations are routinely considered by the US Mint and Congress. The US Mint altered the design showing a schooner rigged vessel - but the public outcry on behalf of Victory Chimes ended with the US Mint changing their policy on state's input into the process, and a compromise coin that returned the Chimes image you now find on the Maine quarter. The reverse has a line drawing and your favorite Captains names! We've made arrangements with Carr to produce a limited run of this beautiful and historic coin exclusively for Victory Chimes passengers. This is the only place you can purchase these. Each is housed in a protective plastic case. Once they're gone, they're gone for good. Great gift or reminder of your cruise, a special keepsake for grand kids or State Quarter collectors. I had one cut into the mat around my Donald Demers VC Print. Shhh don't tell, but I bet Loraine and Joyce will be getting Silver ones as jewelry for Christmas. Limit ten per person please.
